Keepsake Jewelry That is Keeping It 'Green'!

ROCKY RIVER, Ohio – August 10, 2009-- Jennifer L. Bunt, creator and head jeweler of Magic Dog Studio, is proud to announce her commitment to earth friendly and ethical jewelry. Bunt - who captures the magic of childhood, as well as the joy of friendship through her highly personalized jewelry collection based on children's artwork, loved ones thumbprints and handprints – in keeping with this commitment to help preserve the earth's resources, is now working with 100% recycled metal.

The metals used by Magic Dog Studio are known as 'Harmony Metals', and are recycled from the earth's existing metal supplies, which means they are not purchased from mining companies. The negative impact of mining metal not only displaces communities and contaminates the earth's drinking water; it often subjects workers to harsh and unfair working conditions, as well as destroys pristine environments.

Located in Rocky River, Ohio, Magic Dog Studio creates some of the finest handcrafted, personalized jewelry. Each piece is truly one of a kind, and is handmade in the studio using traditional silver and goldsmith techniques – there is no machining involved. These techniques enable Bunt to capture the whimsical quality of your child or children's drawing, and transform it into a stunning, heirloom quality keepsake. A Harmony Certificate of Authenticity will accompany each piece that has been created in the studio, assuring that it was made from 100% recycled metal.

In addition to her custom lines, Bunt has also designed the 'Live, Earth, Love' Message Token. The message live, earth, love is hand stamped on the front of the pendant, while the back combines the symbols for life, love and earth. The pendant was designed not only to convey a message, but also to invite a conversation about the interaction of humanity and the natural world. As a participant in the global effort to preserve our planet's future and as a creator of treasured 'moments in time', Bunt believes there is no greater gift than giving back to our children clean air, water and soil for a healthy tomorrow.

About the Artist: As an artist and long time educator, Jennifer L. Bunt has always believed in celebrating her children and their individualities. She also believed that recording the memories of her family was going to be anything but 'ordinary'. The inspiration for her signature Magic Dog Studio Family Necklace stemmed from the days when her young daughter would accompany her to the school studios and draw – art that Bunt began to turn into jewelry. ("At some time, everyone has presented or been presented with a drawing of a lopsided circle, a few lines and quite possibly three eyes – the first self-portrait. These drawings are not only treasured moments in time, but also the beginning awareness of what makes the young artists' world whole – the family.")

When her youngest daughter created a rendition of the entire family, Bunt knew it would be the perfect Family Necklace. ("laughing...Despite the fact that she drew me as a bald potato, I made it, because this was a piece of jewelry that reflected our family, as well as my daughter's creative spirit.") The necklace became the fulfillment of Bunt's desire to be extraordinary – rather than just ordinary –when it came to her family's memories. With Magic Dog Studios' exciting collection aptly named 'Off the Fridge and Out of the Drawer', parents everywhere now have the same opportunity to experience the joy of seeing their child's artwork transformed into a 'miniature work of art'. ("Forever linking hands, my family gently sways to and fro, my constant companions. Whether I am home, in the studio, or traveling for business, my family is always close to my heart.")

As a parent and a businesswoman, Bunt is committed to reducing her carbon footprint, leaving a more beautiful earth for her children and future grandchildren to enjoy. ("It is my hope that the more people become aware of our impact on the environment, the more we will work to change it.")
